The YWCA Central Alabama currently has permanent and transitional housing available:

Harbor Apartments: Four two-bedroom apartments available for rent to income-eligible families who either need transitional housing (and who meet the HUD definition for homelessness) or permanent housing. All housing is income-eligible. Those seeking transitional housing must be able to certify homeless and if referred from area shelter programs are given preference.)

Downtown Apartments: Two efficiency apartments available for single women with a gross annual income between $25,920 - $34,550. Rent is $300 and includes utilities.

All applicants must have an income and meet certain income requirements and they must complete an application. Interviews and assessments are required prior to placement in the program.
